

Privacy Policy

Our privacy policy is designed to help you in understanding how we collect and use the personal information you provide to us. We want to help you make informed decisions when using our site.

Information we collect

When you visit Longo Legal PLLC, you may provide us with two types of information: personal information you knowingly choose to disclose that is collected on an individual basis and site use information collected on an aggregate basis as you and others browse our site.

Personal information you provide

If you choose to correspond with us through the form we provide on this site, we may retain the content of your message together with your e-mail address and our responses.

Website use information

Longo Legal PLLC keeps a log of visitors to collect information about how our site is used. Information gathered through webserver logs includes the date and time of visits, the pages viewed, time spent at our website, and the website visited just before and just after ours. Our logs do not collect any personally identifiable information such as your name or e-mail address.

How we use the information you provide

If you choose to contact Longo Legal PLLC, we use the personal information you provide to establish contact with you to discuss your case. At no time will we contact you without your prior permission.

Sharing information with third parties

Longo Legal PLLC will never sell your information to any third party without your express consent.

Opt Out Provision

If you would like to opt out of any future communication, email or otherwise please send us an e-mail here:
marianne@longolegal.com